

Cybersecurity Corner

Did you know that children can be victims of identity theft? They are especially vulnerable because those under 18 typically do not have credit reports. Children are essentially a blank slate for scammers to apply for credit, take out loans, or file false tax returns/credits. Unfortunately, this can go undetected for years since many parents do not check to see if their children have credit reports.

Below are some steps you can take to help better protect children's information:

- Check to see if your child has a credit report.
- Consider a credit report security freeze.
- Consider a credit monitoring product.
- Keep your child's documents in a safe place.
- Don't share your child's personal info unless it's absolutely necessary.
- Educate your children about online behavior.
